The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: the claims define over the prior art of record, specifically Delacroix and Kuo, because references do not teach a method where a measurement is taken of labeled reagents after sample has been added but before any complex is formed in a detection area. These references also do not teach taking a measurement of an amount of label reagent eluted from the labeled reagent area and using this measurement together with measurements taken at the detection site to get an accurate and corrected reading of the amount of analytes in a sample.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably
